Barbara Tien: A quick reminder for everyone. We're recording this and will share the recording and these 🙌 links in an email to all members of Projectkin. Make sure to subscribe at <https://Projectkin.org> (yes, it's completely free. We use Substack to handle our back end).

00:19:59.029,00:20:02.029

Becky Hetchler: I edit and add the _frt _ bk at the same time, I use a flat bed

00:23:58.083,00:24:01.083

Barbara Tien: "Start with the goal" always a good rule

00:28:43.870,00:28:46.870

: Very interesting!

00:29:06.575,00:29:09.575

Lisa Fehr: SO awesome!

00:30:23.133,00:30:26.133

M Keats Rudolph: These are 1910's-1950's

00:35:13.625,00:35:16.625

Becky Hetchler: I gave my doubles/triples to my brothers, I also culled slides down to a couple of each trip my parents took and those with people in them.

00:40:39.417,00:40:42.417

Becky Hetchler: Thank you, time for dinner 🙄

00:50:28.970,00:50:31.970

Barbara Tien: Here's the article the scholar wrote. You'll see the photo if you search for "tien"

Kathy Stone: Data Vac

00:52:05.938,00:52:08.938

Gail Abe: This might be for a different talk, need suggestions for filing into computer files. Do you file under Family surname, then individual, then by decades? Just starting, not sure how to begin the filing process.

00:53:43.784,00:53:46.784

Tami Calder: I also would like some tips on sorting/filing

00:53:53.184,00:53:56.184

: My question is very similar to Gails's

00:54:06.240,00:54:09.240

Gail Abe: Yes would love to see that

00:55:28.260,00:55:31.260

Kathy Stone: We are lifelong learners....
